Teaching at Little River Community School

Little River Community School, founded in 1999, is a K-12 democratic school with forty-two students (31 full-time, 11 part-time), located on Birdsfoot Farm in Canton, New York. For next year, there are three teachers, Steve Molnar (Olders), Kelly Newman Burnham (Middles), and Leon Sawyko (science and math). We are seeking a full-time teacher to work with us in our Youngers program, and additionally we will hire an aide to work with that group. We currently have fifteen students (twelve on an average day) in the Younger's program in grades K-2 working with a teacher and an aide. With enough enrollment, we would consider splitting the Youngers group in two, and hire a second teacher instead of an aide.

We are looking for a teacher with at least several years of experience working with children, with an interest in democratic education. In addition to teaching basic academic and social skills to the Youngers, teachers may be asked to share special interests like art, music, other languages, or computer science with older students. It is important to be comfortable with all ages, K-12, though this position is primarily working with the Youngers. Teacher certification is not required.

Our ideal candidate would plan to stay with the school for several or more years. Qualities we are looking for include: a passion for working with children, flexibility, patience, ability to think on your feet, long term interest in teaching, problem-solving abilities, strong communication skills, reliability, behavior management skills, a sense of humor, confidence, and self-motivation.

A teacher aide may have less experience, but should enjoy working with children, be reliable, and show self-confidence. The aide must be able to work well with and under the direction of the teachers to meet the academic and social needs of our students. This is initially a one year position.

Little River provides a unique environment where students are trusted and seen as inherently self-motivated to learn about their world. Our teachers facilitate and support the students' quest for knowledge and understanding. Little River has multi-age classrooms where students learn together in cooperation and are grouped by their ability and interests. Little River provides strong academic classes in a small group setting. Some academic and special classes may have all the Youngers, and others only three or four. The teachers need to generate excitement and interest on the students' terms. Special emphasis is put on problem solving skills and hands-on experiences. All of the students and teachers come together several times a week in a morning meeting, facilitated by the students, for discussion, to make plans, and solve problems. Youngers are given ample opportunity for unstructured play and to choose their own activities. Each student has an individualized curriculum developed by the student, teachers, and parents. Visit us on the web at www.littleriverschool.org for more information about the school.

Teachers are on-site from 7:30 am - 2:30 pm. After school hours, the teachers have a weekly staff meeting, do class preparations, and complete some administrative tasks. In the fall, we have conferences with each family to make an individualized curriculum for each student. There are all-school meetings every six weeks with the students, parents, and teachers.

Little River follows the local school district's calendar for holidays and snow days. Our final day is just before Memorial Day weekend. There are no classes during the summer months, but there are some minimal responsibilities shared by the staff.

The position(s) will begin on August 7th. We use the month of August for training, preparation, and team building.

The teacher salary is $26,500 a year (first year) with benefits including free tuition for a teacher's child, a small health fund, and a supportive environment with a lot of academic freedom. The aide is paid $15/hour for 20-30 hours per week.

If this sounds like the job for you, please complete an application.
